Wednesday, February 6, 2008 The first time I got "serious" about jellyfish was on vacation to Hawaii in the early 80's. We had some time off from our dolphin tour and hiked to the second highest peak on Maui. On the way back we stopped at the tip of the island and got pelagic fishing advice from a park ranger. "Pull your wetsuit off as soon as you get near the jellyfish." "Shuck your wet shoes before you get on the beach." "Don't touch the jellyfish." I'm sure our guide had a background in marine biology and coral reefs but jellyfish don't interest me much. However a few years later I heard about a HONOLULU Magazine feature on the jellyfish eruption on the Isle of Maui in the late 80's. There were over 3,000
